

Individual User Key Points

Defender lets end-users search their own mailboxes

When signing on as a single user, only mail sent from or to the user's mailbox can be searched and viewed. The mailbox being searched is displayed at the top of the search screen as "Restore To Address".

Ability to search on multiple fields

Mails can be searched by from, to, cc, subject name, attachment name, email or attachment text, and date.

Full Text Search

Typing a word or words in the Text Contains field will cause Defender to search through all the email and attachment text looking for the search word(s).

View Mail

An email can be viewed from Defender by selecting "view" from the search results screen.

Restore Mail

An email can be restored to a users Outlook mailbox by selecting "restore" from the search results screen or the view email screen. All emails from the search can be restored at once using the "Restore All" button.

Ability to do "wildcard" searches

Can search on part of a name or text or entire name or text without having to type any special characters.

Ability to search for Word, Excel, PDF, or other attachments

By typing in an attachment suffix (pdf, doc, xls, etc.) a user can locate emails with those attachments.
